

ANJEC celebrates a Year of Thank You!

In challenging times, it's easy to forget how lucky we are.

So many people have made it possible for ANJEC to continue in our mission for the past 42 years. Our members, trustees, funders, donors, volunteers and staff. Individuals who blaze trails for the environment in their own communities and lead the way for other towns to follow. Public officials at every level of government who are willing to take a stand for the environment and back it up with strong laws and regulations. It is an honor to serve among you at this pivotal time in the history of our planet.

Throughout 2011, we plan to express our appreciation in the ANJEC Report, on our web site and at every opportunity.

Our first big "THANK YOU" goes to environmental commissions.

ANJEC is privileged to support an amazing community of passionate volunteers across the state, people who selflessly dedicate untold hours to protecting natural resources in their towns. Environmental commissions have been a cornerstone of New Jersey's environmental movement for over four decades, and we are proud to have walked beside them, supporting their efforts. Thank you to all the members of environmental commissions throughout New Jersey for all you do to make our State a cleaner, healthier, more sustainable place to live!
